Art and Design go well together to proof this point the PDC allowed artists and galleries to set up store and let us be the judge.

The whole thing started as part of the PDC's new fine arts mission. It is a six-month project to forge a relationship between art and design and at the same time using the empty spaces as Art stages.

"Design Loves Art" is one in four projects at the Design Center open to the public.

participating galleries are
See Line Gallery
Sam Lee a gallery owner in Chinatown
Carl Berg, who had a Wilshire gallery
Kopeikin Gallery
